

The Council's vision and accompanying Te Taiao framework, developed in consultation with industry, will provide a springboard for transformative action. Ultimately, this vision will support the growth of the agriculture, food and fibres sector and play a vital role in our economic recovery, so we can build a stronger, better New Zealand.

Having fulfilled its purpose, and with its two-year term having come to an end, the Council no longer exists. Further information on the Council and the vision it developed, 'Fit for a Better World', is publicly available at the following links.
