

New Zealand Terrorism Update: June - August 2018

Report Number: DMS6-15-636

Report Date: 5 September 2018

Terrorism Threat Level
LOW	The Combined Threat Assessment Group (CTAG) assesses a terrorist attack in New Zealand is possible, but is not expected.

Summary

Domestic terrorism

- The national terrorism threat level is LOW, remaining unchanged from last quarter. NZSIS sighted likely indications of mobilisation to violence during the reporting period, but there were no notable violent incidents or near misses.

International terrorism

- New Zealand was not directly affected by any international terrorist incidents during the reporting period. The international terrorism environment is complex, but New Zealand remains unlikely to be a direct target of terrorist groups.