
From: Sue Hayward
Sent: Tuesday, 8 June 2021 14:10
To:
Subject: Re: Nursing strike - staff update - 8 June 2021

Hi

I know it does sound antagonistic but that is the rule for all people on strike, they and their cars are not supported to be on site. All unions know this and while it is disruptive for individuals to have to move their cars I can't change the rules set by unions and employers and agreed across all sectors.

As you mentioned this would be difficult to enforce, and you will note that I have not mentioned how it will be enforced.

Regards

Sue

Sue Hayward
Chief Nursing and Midwifery Officer
Waikato District Health Board

From: >
Sent: Tuesday, 8 June 2021 1:51 PM
To: Sue Hayward <Sue.Hayward@waikatodhb.health.nz>
Subject: Fwd: Nursing strike - staff update - 8 June 2021
Hi Sue

I don't support this strike however I am concerned your parking rules will

1. Make it more likely nurses will be late for their 7pm restart, further delaying care of patients and extending the burden on other frontline staff.
2. Add an unnecessary degree of antagonism (makes the DHB look petty and quite frankly makes me feel embarrassed as a staff member).
3. Violate the terms of the parking agreement which mention nothing about strikes. Staff have already paid for parking whether they strike or not.
4. Be unenforceable anyway - how can anyone tell if someone parking is a nurse on strike or a member of public visiting a family member or a nurse not striking just coming on shift.

Kind regards

Begin forwarded message:

From: News <news@waikatodhb.health.nz>
Date: 8 June 2021 at 1:28:55 PM NZST
Subject: Nursing strike - staff update - 8 June 2021

Waikato DHB nurses, healthcare assistants and some midwives who are members of the NZNO will be striking tomorrow from 11am to 7pm.

Parking – No parking onsite for striking nurses in all hospital campuses. Nurses who come to work in the morning and then go on to strike will need to move their cars from the carpark as they go on strike. The same for nurses on strike and then recommencing the remaining component of their shift at 7pm, cannot bring your car on site until the strike period is complete.
- Sue Hayward, incident controller, chief nursing and midwifery officer