Kia ora Jessie,

Please find attached our aide memoire on G v R, which we received back from the Attorney-General's office today. We will also provide a copy to OT. You will see that it is legally privileged and so should not be shared any further.

Should you have any technical questions, @Jessica Pridgeon is the best first point of contact, as she was counsel in G and has another couple of appeals raising similar issues coming up in the Supreme Court.

Kind regards,
Peter

Hi Jessie,

I've spoken with Madeleine about this. I understand from her that the briefing is currently still being worked on, but is likely to be fairly short. She anticipates being able to share it with the Ministry of Justice.

Kind regards,
Peter

Kia ora Peter,

My team is responsible for sentencing policy here at Justice. I'm just following up on the briefing Madeleine mentions below – will it be copied to Min Goldsmith? Is it possible for us to see it?

Thanks,
Jessie

Evening Caroline and Megan,

We will brief our minister, but I just wanted you to note this decision, and your criminal justice policy team should at least be aware of it.

Are you also able please to forward it to Oranga Tamariki criminal justice policy team as it concerns the change to the long-standing understanding of the relationship between the youth court jurisdiction and the district court when it comes to sentencing.

Nga mihi Madeleine
