Section 9 (2) (f) (iv)

Women's skills, employment, and income

Paper on key decisions required to draft legislation to implement a pay equity regime

On 26 March, you and the Minister of Workplace Relations and Safety will receive a joint paper from MBIE and the Ministry on key decisions required to draft legislation to implement a pay equity regime. The paper will include advice on the recommendations of the Reconvened Joint Working Group, whether to proceed with the investigation of proactive employer obligations at this time, and how to proceed with issues around back pay. A meeting is being organised for you and the Minister of Workplace Relations and Safety to discuss the paper. You will receive separately a paper from MBIE and the Ministry on developing tools and information regarding pay equity, [REDACTED]

Eliminating the gender pay gap in the public service

At our officials meeting on 28 February we discussed inviting officials from SSC to discuss the gender pay gap work in the public service. Your office has arranged a meeting for 27 March and has invited two senior SSC officials. We would like to discuss progress on the outcomes and targets that could be included in the Cabinet paper, and options for you to engage in the Cabinet paper's development, and timing.

Meeting with Women in Trades

Ministry officials met with the Chair and committee members of Women in Trades to discuss how the Ministry will provide reporting and coordination support for their annual conference event, targeted at school girls considering trades careers. The committee confirmed that the mid-September event will be hosted in South Auckland. Committee members will work through their own networks to gain resource support and participation for the event.

Meeting with Champions for Change and Global Women

Ministry officials attended a quarterly Champions for Change Implementation Leads (IL) meeting and spoke about the gender pay gap. Each Champions for Change organisation is led by a champion and supported by an IL, usually a human resources practitioner, who liaises with Global Women (GW). We advised that the Ministry is developing gender pay gap measurement guidelines for employers with SSC and Stats NZ. We invited organisations to review the draft guidelines, which will be available in the next few weeks. We also updated the ILs on our evaluation of gender pay gap calculators, which some ILs have assisted with.

Officials also met with GW staff to discuss the gender pay gap and women in leadership work. GW is preparing an information sheet about the gender pay gap for Champions for Change which they have asked us to review. We also discussed the annual GW Summit, to be held later this year.

Women's safety from violence

Meeting with the Family Violence Clearinghouse

Ministry officials met with Nicola Paton, Manager, and Dr Janet Fanslow, Co-Director, of the Family Violence Clearinghouse to discuss the Ministry's family and sexual violence work programme. The Family Violence Clearinghouse is the national centre for family violence research, and is funded by Justice (previously by Superu) to gather and disseminate research and information.

We also attended a Family Violence Clearinghouse seminar on the use of 'Parental Alienation' theory in the New Zealand Family Court and how this can lead to women and children's experiences of family violence being minimised or dismissed. Parental Alienation is a disputed theory that based on a belief that women fabricate experiences of violence to retain custody of children. The panel discussion included New Zealand and international academics, and a speaker from the Backbone Collective, a family violence advocacy NGO.

The Government has previously indicated support for a review of the Family Court and the Ministry will continue to closely follow this issue.

Women's representation in leadership

Nominations for Conservation Boards reopened

Conservation Minister Eugenie Sage announced that nominations for the Conservation Boards have been reopened to ensure they reflect the diverse communities they serve. We received advance notice of this announcement via the appointing agency and are working closely with Conservation to support the new process.

Women in Super panel presentation

The Nominations manager was a panellist at the Boardroom journeys - Women in Super event held at PwC Wellington offices on 21 March, and promoted the Nominations service to participants. Women in Super is a national network of women in the New Zealand retirement industry.

International

Pacific Alliance Consultation

MFAT has opened public consultation on what issues should be included in a progressive and inclusive free trade agreement with the Pacific Alliance. MFAT has requested submissions on questions relating to the intersection of trade and gender and the barriers to women's involvement in international trade and investment, as producers, consumers, and workers. Public submissions are due by 16 April 2018. The Ministry has shared this opportunity with the International Women's Caucus.

International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights

On 22 and 23 March, New Zealand will undergo a review of the fourth periodic report on the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) at the 63rd session of the ICESCR Committee in Geneva, Switzerland. The official delegation will be led by Minister of Justice, Hon Andrew Little. The Ministry contributed to the ICESCR report and has been working closely with Justice in preparing for the examination. Ministry staff will be on call throughout the examination to provide any additional information required by the official delegation.

Women in Sport

The Ministry continues to work with Sport NZ to support efforts to improve the participation of women and girls in sport, and to develop pathways for women in governance and leadership. Hosting the International Working Group (IWG) World Conference on Women in Sport in May and June 2022 provides an opportunity to drive the participation and equality agenda for women in sport. The Ministry sits on the IWG Steering Group and is working with Sport NZ to brief you and Minister Robertson for your joint video message to mark the handover of the IWG Secretariat in Botswana in May.

In our engagement with the wider sports sector, a Ministry official recently met with Matthew Cooper, Chief Executive, and Michelle Hollands, General Manager, Regional Leadership, of Sport Waikato and Tonia Cawood, newly appointed Chair of the Chiefs, to discuss women's empowerment in sport and sexual harassment policies.

Part 2: Operational matters

OIA request on staff engagement data

SSC has received an OIA including a request for the information SSC holds of "all staff engagement data from state sector agencies". All public sector agencies provide this data to SSC as part of the annual Human Resources Capability Survey. SSC plans to release this data in response to the OIA request.

The Ministry's staff engagement results from 2008, 2013, and 2015 surveys will be included as part of this release, and are listed in the table below. The staff engagement index provides an overall score based on responses to six key questions on the 'overall perceptions' of the organisation. The Ministry's employee engagement score has improved since 2013 and is above the state sector benchmark. This is for your information only and we will advise you should any further action be required.

Engagement Provider	Year	Overall staff engagement index
Gallup	2008	4.17 (out of 5)
IBM Kenexa	2013	69.1%
IBM Kenexa	2015	73.6%

Annual Privacy self-assessment

In 2014 the Government Chief Privacy Officer (GCPO) issued core expectations of government agencies in good practice for privacy management and governance, as well as the Privacy Maturity Assessment Framework (PMAF) to support agencies to meet the core expectations.

The Privacy self-assessment helps Chief Executives to understand their agency's progress in building privacy capability, and helps the GCPO to identify any support agencies need.

The GCPO reports annually on system-wide progress in privacy management. Agencies' information is consolidated into a summary report to form the basis of reports to the Government Chief Information Officer, the Minister of State Services and Cabinet. The Ministry was not required to complete a self-assessment last year, but will complete one by 29 March 2018.

The Ministry values good privacy practice and we are committed to strengthening this over time. We would be pleased to provide your office with a copy of our self-assessment on request.
